

Walking an Unknown Journey...: My Addiction, My Life, My Walk, My Faith, My Happiness

Born and raised in New Orleans to a single mother of 5 and reared in the Florida Housing project with a dysfunctional family and a mother who was a habitual alcoholic who bar hopped every chance she got. As a child I was exposed to things that to this day are disturbing to me and I feel no child should have been exposed to. I was allowed to see and experience so many things as a young child in this world and some of those things allowed to me to fight many demons. Those demons and my life experiences made me the person who I am today. I never knew my father and I always tried to latch on to any male figure that I thought was a good role model. I ran from the gang affiliation, drugs, and alcohol and even the very often visible subject I saw daily domestic abuse against a woman. I know that there was a higher power watching over me during these troubling times in my life because I should have died at least 6 times in my lifetime! But I am here to share my story in hopes that it will release someone that has experienced the very same things I have. I'd like to give a Special Dedication to Ms. Mary Emery who through all these years have always had a place in my heart; because of you I succeed in many ways and because of you I found hope! The Lord God put you in my life and you were and still are a blessing to me . . . Thank You My Unofficial MOM.
